

ARCHIVED NEWS 2010

THE NATIONAL TRUST

CARN GALVA, WATCH CROFT & TREVEAN

CONTENTS OF THIS FILE

JANUARY

ELECTRIC FENCING

MARCH

TREVEAN

JUNE

BOSIGRAN CLIMBERS CLUB

WATCH CROFT CATTLE GRID

ADDED 30th JANUARY 2010

ELECTRIC FENCING

New electric fencing has been installed along the side and rear boundaries of the Climbing Club property at Bosigran; the Cornish hedge on the side bounding the B3306 has still not been touched for months and remains unfinished. The new fencing would indicate that the National Trust are gearing up to complete stock proofing of Carn Galva for the spring.

BACK TO FILE CONTENTS

ADDED Saturday 20th March 2010

TREVEAN

“Trust will reveal its new design for flagship farm” runs a headline on the South West Business web site. Go to this link for more on National Trust revised plans for Trevean.

<http://www.southwestbusiness.co.uk/cornwall/Trust-reveal-new-design-flagship-farm/article-1882246-detail/article.html>

BACK TO FILE CONTENTS

ADDED Saturday 26th June 2010

BOSIGRAN CLIMBERS CLUB

Cornish hedge and gates now in place as part of Carn Galva stock proofing.

BACK TO FILE CONTENTS

ADDED Saturday 3rd July 2010

WATCH CROFT CATTLE GRID

One of the two cattle grids intended for use across the public bridleway on Watch Croft is now installed on the drive to Bosigran Farm, even though the National Trust stock proofing map for Carn Galva, dated 6th October 2008, shows it was intended to put an 11 foot wide gate at this location. Seems like an excuse just to use up this grid to get out of trouble with the fund providers.

BACK TO FILE CONTENTS